

Lesson 8: Fill yourself up at the Smorgasbord -- consume as much or as little as you want!

For the first dish of the Smorgasbord I offer a lesson that I notice most iPad users never do -- adding bookmarks on Safari so that you can get quick efficient access to a variety of websites. The 6 minute OPTIONAL video is at http://youtu.be/tQwAwH_YhXw and it shows you how to add and edit bookmarks on the Safari browser on your iPad.

The goal is to get you to have 10-15 short websites on your Safari browser that look like this Notice that I have short 2 or 3 or 4 letter nicknames for different websites so that they are one tap away.

It all begins by going to this icon once you have a favorite website on your iPad.

Once you add the bookmark, you go to the Bookmarks Bar and you can edit.

Once you are editing and see this next image, you can click the red circle to delete or click the 3 lines on the right to drag the item up or down.

All these steps are spelled out in the 6 minute OPTIONAL video at http://youtu.be/tQwAwH_YhXw -- enjoy!

For the second dish on the Smorgasbord I have added the final 11 questions from our SKILL LIST of 33 QUESTIONS on our Wiki. Most of you have gone through the first 22 and I have made some videos to answer some of the questions I saw on the list. I have also helped a number of you in our 30 minute weekly sessions with some of these questions and I believe that has been helpful to you. So below are the last 11 questions that are now posted on our wiki with your names like the first 22 so you can go through the list. This should be considered a required assignment.

For the third dish on the smorgasbord, I would love to interest you in an App that virtually everyone who sees it at Summercore loves!

It is not an educational app but it will be useful for you for both personal and professional value. These two OPTIONAL videos will get you started and we will see how many of the 10 of you like it, love it and start using it!

Flipboard lets you have a "customized magazine" that is made up of a variety of other magazines so that all the daily/weekly stories and headlines COME TO YOU in this one Flipboard magazine. You can also have your twitter account, your Facebook account and your Linked-In account COME TO YOU. The interface is beautifully attractive and easy to use. You can add professional topics from educational magazines in Chinese, Spanish, Kindergarten or any topic whatsoever. And each day, your beautiful Flipboard magazine updates itself. You can read it on your phone or iPad. Watch the videos and you may well become a Flipboarder for personal enjoyment!

iPad Flipboard2 (7 min) <http://youtu.be/GllsksiVqFY>

It is this second video that shows you how to make an easy "educational newsletter" which is the one part of Flipboard with has an educational component.

Yes, you can make an attractive and easy to read newsletter by "flipping" a number of articles from web sites into your creation. Above in the middle is the Summercore Flipboard magazine and on the right is the opening screen from the Summercore Online magazine. Above on the left is how your personal Flipboard appears.

Consider the list of magazine subscriptions on the left.

Each one has numerous sub-topics and sub-magazines. You choose your own interests!

This way, your Flipboard is different from mine or anyone else.

I once read in the 1980s that eventually, we will be able to "make your own magazine" using the topics that you are interested in.

That time is here! Flipboard does this for you.

Need another magazine topic that you don't see?

Click on the magnifying glass and you can type in anything you want, e.g. HOUSTON CHRONICLE as you see below.

Then you just choose SUBSCRIBE.

Once you see an article or magazine you like, you click SUBSCRIBE as you see in the BLUE BOX below. The top left icon that says FLIPBOARD takes you back to your personal flipboard while the magnifying glass lets you SEARCH for any topic.

Below on the left, I searched for TEACHING and on the right I searched for CHINESE MANDARAIN. How can anyone not want to use Flipboard?

For the fourth dish on the smorgasbord, I would love to get you excited about SPREAKER DJ. Yes, just sneak an "R" into the word speaker and you get Spreaker, a free app that lets you or your students create an audio podcast with sound effects (crowd clapping or crowd laughter) and music (through iTunes). Take a look at this graphic and then watch the 8 minute video at youtu.be/nza48Ly4g74 while you download the free app called Spreaker or Spreaker DJ.

Sound effects are on the right with songs you choose from iTunes you can fade in/fade out at the start and finish. Once you click the red button to record, you are making a podcast that will have a URL so others can listen. You push the button at the bottom to record. Sound effects on the right must be turned on and turned off.

For those of you teaching foreign language, this is a wonderful app that your kids will love because of the music fade in/fade out. Please make sure they keep music clips under 30 seconds so as to obey copyright laws. Meanwhile you will love it since you get to evaluate your kids' pronunciation in Chinese or Spanish or whatever and each Spreaker podcast gets assigned a unique URL for your access.

If you try Spreaker, it all begins by pushing the RED record button and choosing the RECORD OFFLINE feature.

Be careful -- a common mistake involves the icons at the bottom.

You need to make sure your microphone is ON when you are recording or you can tap and HOLD the PUSH TO TALK button. You cannot have music and your voice at the same time, so when you turn ON your microphone, it automatically lowers the volume of the music.

The same goes with sound effects and your voice.

Spreaker is "one and done" app so if you make a mistake, you need to start again. Once you are done, you come to this confusing screen where you MUST type in a Title and a Show. For Show, just call it "Jane Doe's Podcasts" using your name of course.

I hope at least one of you uses Spreaker. If so, please email me the URL!

Have a good week
and bon appétit!
